First Friends Lamb

Item number 76074

The First Friends Lamb is a farm animal figure with clicking, moving ears and head and legs that squeak when pressed. The child turns the head and wiggles the ears to hear them click, then squeezes the legs for a squeak. It is safe for teething and collectable, and it belongs in pretend play with the other First Friends farm animals while prompting bleating and simple talk about the farm.

KEY FEATURES

-  Clicking ears and head
Ears and head move with a click the child can hear and feel.
-  Squeaking legs
Press the legs to hear them squeak.
-  Safe for teething
Made to be mouthed safely by younger children.
-  Collectable figure
Plays alongside the other animals and figures in the First Friends collection.

LEARNING & DEVELOPMENT

-  Fine motor skills
Turning the head, moving the ears and pressing the legs works small hand movements.
-  Cause and effect
Moves produce a click and presses produce a squeak, so actions have clear results.
-  Imaginative play
The lamb invites farm role play with First Friends animals, stable and farm house.
-  Language development
Bleating together and naming the lamb's features builds sounds and vocabulary.
